Up-to-Date Farmers.—The Clatsop farmer does not propose to sit still and deny himself the advantages of speedy and long-distance communication with his friends and neighbors. And to this end about a dozen Young's River planters assembled yesterday in the office of Judge Aiken and made preliminary arrangements for connecting their respective farms by telephone with the nearby lines already established, and before winter settles upon them it is likely they will nearly all be in touch with each other, the adjoining settlements and villages and with the county seat as well.

Van Dusen presiding, and Charles R. Higgins, secretary, handling the records as usual. The board transacted some routine business matters, paid some current bills, and nothing of extraordinary importance presenting itself, adjourned until the meeting in course.

FOUR WINTER ATTRACTIONS.

Jacob Riis and Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis Among Attractions for Lyceum Course in Astoria.

The young men of the League of the First Presbyterian church with the assistance of their pastor, Rev. W. S. Gilbert, are at work to bring to Astoria a splendid course of entertainments for the winter months.

They propose to bring four, Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn, probably the most eloquent speaker on the American platform; also Jacob A. Riis, characterized by President Roosevelt as the first and best citizen of New York city. Riis is a most interesting man and will fill only 20 dates west of Denver, and Astoria will be one of them.

The only and original Dunbar company, who have been entertaining Chicago for the past five seasons, come to the coast this year and will be the third attraction in Astoria. The Dunbars are known as the greatest bell-ringers in the world and they form a male quartet, instrumental trio and in addition they make lots of fun by comic impersonation.

René B. Wellbourne will be the fourth attraction. Wellbourne is noted for his connection with Marconi, in the wireless telegraphy experiments. He is a wizard when he is showing the wonderful experiments in his scenery. He can accomplish such wonderful things the aid of electricity that magicians do by means of tricks. This is certainly an excellent course and in order to bring these people it is necessary for the League to secure subscriptions for 300 season tickets at $2 each. Mr. E. S. Lister of the Lyceum Bureau is here, aiding the young men in installing their first course of entertainments and it is believed their plans will meet with success.

He Is Still Here.—Yesterday was an important anniversary with Uncle Bill Chance, the veteran bailiff of Clatsop Circuit court, and one that should be accounted of value to every citizen of the county. It was the fifty-sixth anniversary of his landing in this city from Oregon City, the trip having been made in a canoe. He has been here practically ever since, is here yet, and good for many a year to come, and he says "If the community can stand it, he can." Of course there is a story connected with this, as there is with anything Uncle Bill figures in. Last year he played one of his quiet little jokes on this anniversary. When he landed here first it was high noon and he was hungry and made a bee line for a boarding house that then stood on the high ground now occupied by the Troy laundry, at the corner of Tenth and Duane, and he got a hearty dinner at the hands of a pretty girl, who made quite an impression on his highly susceptible nature; so last year, about dinner time, on the 17th of September, he stepped into the laundry office and asked the matronly lady in charge "if he could have some dinner?" Thinking the old gentleman was a bit dotty, she kindly and quickly informed him that he was not in a hotel nor a restaurant, whereat Uncle Bill looked all around with a glare of astonishment, and said with his convincing and apologetic smile, "Well! Well! I eat dinner here fifty-five years ago today, and you look mightily like the handsome girl that waited on me. Lord! How things and people do change, don't they?" And with that he ambled out of doors and disappeared. What he did yesterday, in a reminiscent way, has not yet been discovered and reported.

For a Month's Vacation.—Benjamin Young departed yesterday morning for a month's visit to Harrison Hot Springs, B. C., which, he claims, is one of the beauty spots of the northwest, with plenty of game for fishing and hunting, and he expects to have the time of his life. He knows lots of people up there, having spent some years there in the canning business, and besides, he expects to meet friends from Portland, Seattle and Bellingham.

School Opens.—Yesterday morning the school bells rang for the first time in three months, announcing the opening of the Fall term, and calling the children to their books once more. The attendance for the first day was about equal to that of last year and indications are that it will be increased within a few days. The attendance in the various schools so far as registered yesterday was: Alderbrook, 98; Shively, 255; Adair, 294; McClure's, 247; Olney, 109; Taylor, 184; High School, 91.

Commercial Saloon.—This popular place, situated at 509 Commercial street, is up-to-date in every particular. The choicest of wines and all kinds of liquors can be procured here. Best quality cigars. Billiard table in connection. If you can't come in person, call up Phone 1231 Main.

Gored by Bull—Sunday forenoon, John Wilkinson, a rancher of Clatsop county, was knocked down and severely gored by a Jersey bull, which he was leading. The animal butted Mr. Wilkinson several times, and finally one of the horns entered his mouth, with the result that the man's face was almost torn off. Mr. Wilkinson's wife came to her husband's assistance and was knocked down once, but at last managed to drag the enraged bull away from his victim. As soon as Mr. Wilkinson gained his feet he ran to the barn and seizing a gun, attempted to kill the animal. Mr. Wilkinson was removed later to the St. Mary's hospital, where his wounds were attended to, though it was feared that they might prove fatal.

Was Fatally Poisoned.—Sunday afternoon while the two-year-old son, Karl, of Rev. Karl G. Rissanen, of the Finnish Evangelical Lutheran church of this city, was playing around the house in Uniontown, he secured possession of a box of tablets made by the Jersey Specialty company of New York, and before it was noticed, the little child had swallowed about twenty of the tablets. He died in less than two minutes in great agony. A physician who was called and examined the tablets, found them to contain a mixture of opium and strychnine, one of which was enough to kill. Arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

Body Identified.—The body of the man found floating in the river near the D. K. Johnson fishing grounds last Saturday was identified as that of R. W. Ulrich, a deck hand, who fell overboard from the steamer Hassalo, about two weeks ago. The remains were interred on Tenas Illice island.
